

Best Mixing Guitar Trick

1. Find a preferred frequency and boost on one guitar while cut the same frequency in the double part.
2. Try the same on other pair of guitars but try change the sweet frequency. You don't want to over-boost the same tone.
3. Experiment with the parts you have.
4. You should always record double guitar parts with different settings(guitar, pickup, amp, strings, pedals, etc.) in order to get an even more width tone.